These delicacies were tun more graveled to ount of the fair denors, whose presence enhanced he interest of the occasion. The loyal citlzens, with their wives and daughters, whn witnessed the various movements of the troops under command of Lieutenant-Colonel Cotton (Col. Whitaker being absent), were delighted with their evo-lutions and rapid improvement in discipline.

Mr. 11. C. Shivell, on bohalf of the ladies, in a neat little speech, tendered to the regimant the repast which they had prepared, as an expression of the kind regard entertained for the defenders of the kind regard entertained for the defenders of our country.

Cel. Cotton, as the organ of the coldiers, replied in appropriate terms—pledging himself and companions—in—arms to chrish the advice recently given by an aged mother to her ann—now in command under the gallant Rousseau—to cross Muldraugh's Hill again only as a corpee or conqueror. A call was then made for Dr. J. T. Russell, who responded in a patriotic address, of the conclusion of which three cheers for the 1 nion—which made the welkin ring—were given with a hearty good will, followed by "Yankee Doodle" by the band. I should not emit to mention that a most excellent band is attached to the regiment.

The utmost decorum, good order, and I will edd, good humer, prevailed. It was pleasant to observe the ladies—God bless them for their potriotic efforts—among them mothers and sisters, visiting their sons and brothers in the encampment, while no where among the soldiers could nent, while no where among the soldiers could be heard a singlo rude remark, calculated to shock the ears of a pure and refined delicacy. CAMP SHERMAN, FAIR GROUNDS, NEAR LOUISVILLE, Oct. 9, 1861.

Having made the necessary arrungements, we are now prepared to pay to each man, when mustered in as a soldier for three years or during the war, one month's full pay in advance. Thie, with the system of allotment tickets, will enable the men to leave their families provided for until the next regular pay day.

The camp will be continued at its present locality until the men can be fully uniformed and ality until the men can be fully uniformed and quipped, when it will be moved to New Haven, where companies or single recruits may report themselves for muster.

Having 500 men already in camp, with the divantages offered by the present plan, the regiment must soon be filled and prepared for actual service. We confidently expect by the first of ext week to be in msrch to join the troops al the fairest fabric of numan government ever reared by the hand of man.

In this deplorable crisis in our effairs, it becomes us, as Massons, to determine what is our duy to our country, our brethren, and ourselves. In addition to the fealty, the loyalty, and the ettachment which every citizen owes to his country, it is enjoined upon every Masson, as his first and highest dury, to be true to his country and the his they amongst. usI to his Government.

We have our fully read and estentively considered the language of our M. W. Grand Master, and most heartily approve the patrictic and Masonic vlews expressed by him. He briefly hat fertilly brings to our view the fact that a portion of the citizers of the United States have arrayed themselves in rebellion against the Government and his constituted authorities. We are all, ascitizens and Masons, cognizeut of the fact; and history has obready recorded that this rebellion, this wide-poread tre son, is the result of a conspiricy, planned and organized for the overthrow end desired in the four common theorems and his lawst uction of our common Government and its law-fully constituted authorities. I this most extra-ordinary crisis, the question presents itself with force: What is the duty of Freemasons, not in one force: What is the duty of Freemacors, not in one locality only, but throughout the whole extent of our common country? The enswer is plain and imperetive, and is to be found, not only in the most ancient charges, but in all the subsequent teachings of Freemacory. "A Mason is a peaceful subject of the civil power," and "is never to be concerned in plots or conspiracies against the peace of dwelf-re of the na ion," say these "ancient charges." t charges."

NARROW Locars of a Resea Prisoner.

The day before one robel prisoners were removed from Cimp Carille to their winter quarters in Wheeling, Major Kreps, of the 1st Virginia cayairy, observed that one of the more confined in the lurge hall had succeeded in cutting through a heard, so that all that remained was to push the board in order to make a tiple large enough for n man to pass through. The Major said nothing to the prisoners, had quioily informed the guard of the orienvery, end instructed him to shoot the first man who attempted in cape through the bole. Doring the night the board dropped down, end one of the prisoners, Hume Yong, stuck his head through the aperture, and was fired upon by the guard. The next morning Young seni for the Major, and sekel him if it was his intention is shoot the prisoners, should like the selection of the prisoners, should contain the Major, and sekel him if it was his intention is shoot the prisoners, should like the prisoners, should be the prisoners, should be appeared as the prisoners of t send one of the prisoners, Hume Young, stuck his head through the aperture, and was fired upon by the guird. The next morning Young seni for the Major, and asked kim if it was his intention to shoot the prisoners, as in that event many of the mount like to have a short lime in which to prepere for the next would, and to write some lettors home. The Major replied that he had us such Intention, whereupon Young related that during the night he had for the prison when a board dropped down and hows instently short at by the guard. An examination showed that the guard had shot to kit. The hall passed through the corner of a stancheon on the side of the eperture, and into a pair of tall lie-bugs inside the hill.

How Presidents are Treated in Havii—
The French language, which in Paris cannot be accused of barrenness in metaphor, in Hayii becomes bariarically tropical. The account of Geffrard's procress through the island, just received in a file of Hayian papers (enticipated by former crivials as to news), contains sume curious displays of rile oric. At Port Salut, Miss Recipe bends the President a benquat, which fades to the dries with of hay before the eccompanying address:

ELMARA. "Nay the oder of those flowers float up to the feet of the kert all brone, as the perfume of incense which we owe to the Creater of the world, in that keplying for the favor of his bestowment on us of the Valence flower."

A HISTORICAL PARALLEL.—In one respect there is a perfect analogy between the advance of the Federal ermy into the revolted States and that of B map rie into Russia—we mean the terrible scrule all one in one of the Federal ermy into the revolted States and that of B map rie into Russia—we mean the terrible scrule all one in one of the Federal ermy into the revolted States and that of B map rie into Russia—we mean the terrible scrule all one in one of the seaso effered. refused to uveil himself of the disposition of the sarfs to rise against their masters. And why? For precisely the identical reasons that force themeelves upon us. "The aerfs," said ho, "are unit to be trusted with the liberty they desire. If I cartie & Warren, Themes Richards. encourage the subjects of the Czar to rise ngainst him, I cannot hope that he will ever agen he come my friend." He subsequently made use of this language to the Senate of France: "By pro-abilities the content of the Senate of France: "By pro-abilities the content of the Senate of France: "By pro-abilities the content of the Senate of France: "By pro-abilities the content of the senate of th chaiming the emancipation of the slaves, I could be a small time greater portion of the Russian population eganst himself. In several villages this enfracehisement was demunded of me. But the work made a non-freedy made and Verteslavian Clerks, Manufiles, and Manufil the wer I made upon Russia was political; and, besides, the brutality of this numerous class of the Russian people is such that this measure

Well, we are engaged in just such a political war, in spile of our own will, against an advorsa-ry that has been, and whom it is of great conse-quence should agala be, our "friend." In neither quence should again be, our "friend." In neither case was subjection the purpose, but simply the restoration of affairs to the status que ante belann. That being the object of Bonaparte, we he himself declared, he did "not doub" that his true policy was in prevent his "politicel war" from being the occasion of a social and service wer. He held to his policy to the last, even up to the time he left Moscow. As is said by Sir Robert Wilson, an English writer, who was present during the most of the campaign: "There is no question that a civil war could have been fomented in Rues!; and it was Bonaparte who rejected the effers of and it was Bouparte who rejected the effers of iosurrection which were made to him during the lime he was in Moscow."

Now, if Bonaparto was impelled by the importance of not permanently alienating the Czur, and also by considerations of humanity, to avoid all incitement to service war, the earn policy is most assuredly incumbon upon us. The recovered friendship of the Czar was necessary to him simply that an external ally might be wou; but the regained friendship of the Southern people is necessary to us that our internul oneness may be saved. The humane inducements in his case re-ferred only to dielent foreigners, of alien blood, strange relizion, and harbarous language; in our case they refer to our own kith and kin, speakers of the same mother lungue, worshippers at the same ellar, and fellow-citizens under the same free rule. The receous which presod so powerfully upon the great Freech Emperor press with far more force upon us —N. Y. Horld.

White Gustowers.—There is an article upon the above subject by M. Pohl, e German chemist, in the London, Edinburg, and Duhlin Philosophical Magazine for July last, and another on the same subject in the Chemical News, August 24th, by F. Iludson, E.q. Considerable effection has lately been given by some chemists to this peculiar substance. The former states that prussiato of notash 20 parts, sugar 23, and chlorate of potof potash 20 parts, sngar 23, and chlorate of potash 40 parts, make good white guepowder. In explicing this powder, 100 parts of it yielded 17 44 cf gaseous products end 52 56 of solid residue. Ordinarily black guupowder furnishes only 31 38 of gaseous products and 63 06 of solid residue. The efficiency of gunpowder is measured by the gases which are produced from it by the explosion. An equal weight of white gunpowder will produce I 67 times the explosive effect of the black. In order to obtain the same effect on projection and processing solutions and mines only 60 parts of And again, "if a brother should be a rabel squares the State, he is not to be countenanced in his robellion, however he may be pilled as an unbappy man."
